Explanation

The end-user tariff for Mogas 95 increases due to a slight increase in the purchase price and furthermore a sharp increase in the correction of the surplus/deficit component. The previously mentioned sharp increase is mainly the result of implementation of the mitigation of the price increase of last month (50% of the increase of the purchase price). The end-user tariff for Gasoil LSD increases mainly as a result of a sharp increase in the purchase price, which is in line with Platts. In order to avoid an even greater tariff fluctuation for Gasoil LSD, the increase in the purchase price is implemented in two steps through a negative correction in the surplus/deficit component. Also for LSD applies that the mitigation of the price increase of last month (50% of the increase of the purchase price) is implemented. To further mitigate the tariff increases for Mogas and LSD, the deficits from the previous months will be spread over several upcoming months. However, these mitigating measures will still have to be corrected in the coming months.
